MAY THE PLEASANT MEMORIES OF THE PAST

YEAR LIVE FOREVER ON THESE PAGES

Hoot mon, lads and lassies! Do you recognize me? Aye, you've guessed it! It's your friend, the Scottie, and I'd like to show you some of the more important activities pictured, and let you read the articles written about the seniors and the underclassmen. I feel sure that this book will recall many pleasant memories to you now and in years to come.

So, as the Spirit of S. H. S. and as representative of the class of 1940, I'd like to show you through the book. If you're interested, follow me, my hearties, and find out what's been going on this past year.

THE SCOTTIE

WE HONOR

Mr. J. Sidney Lecnard to whom we wish to express our appreciation and highest regards. Mr. Leonard has been with us for ten years as a teacher of commercial subjects. Born in Sunbury, Pennsylvania, he attended Sunbury High School, graduated from Susquehanna, B. S., and University of Pittsburgh, M. Ed. Last year he sponsored an extra curricular activity, "The Scottie Candy Corporation" in order to give his students a chance to put their business knowledge in practice. He is also a junior class sponsor and treasurer of the athletic association of the high school.

The School

The School Board

The School Board is the basis of our educational system here in Scottsdale. All vital issues are determined by this organization in collaboration with the superintendent. It is the function of the board to see that the members of the graduating classes are equipped to discharge the responsibilities of modern society by putting their high school training into practical use. The Scottsdale School Board is constantly striving to achieve this end year after year, thus furnishing more opportunities for each succeeding class.

During this year the Board has completed payments for the bleachers and the fence erected on our athletic field. The organization has also requested bids for a new lighting system for the high school. Such action will make the interior more attractive and improve the working conditions. The Board also announces that an extensive appraisal, which has been taken on all public school buildings for insurance purposes, has indicated that the value of school buildings with all equipment amounts to $346,793.67. Of course, the ultimate goal of the School Board is the erection of a gymnasium and auditorium, a project which will greatly improve the physical plant.

Under economic stress the School Board has accomplished much. To all the Board members are extended the appreciation and congratulations of the Class of 1940.

If you have made an honest and fair attempt at the problem of self-analysis, if you have armed yourself with all the knowledge obtainable in the occupation under consideration, if you have made an honest effort in trying to balance and harmonize the related factors, then there is but one more thing to remember. It is important that at all times you keep your character and your integrity above reproach.

E. M. Byers.

A Word From Mr. Bulick

Education is in a large sense an individual matter. But individuals compose neighborhoods and communities, communities compose states, and in the United States, the States compose the nation. As are the neighborhoods, so will be the states and the nation.

Agencies devoted in whole or in part to serving the various needs of youth now exist in bewildering variety. In almost all communities they include civic organizations, service clubs, religious groups, and other types of private organizations, in addition to the public agencies carrying on educational, health, welfare, employment service and other public service functions.

Public high schools are now the major social agency to prepare young people for working life, but the deficiencies of the schools in the performance of this function are great. The types of program they offer are not sufficiently adapted to the needs of the pupils, particularly to the needs of the great majority who do not go on to college. Moreover, if programs of the right kind were offered, the existing facilities would be inadequate to care for the increased enrollments that would result.

The schools however have adapted themselves to changing needs as rapidly as any social institution but they have not been able to come abreast of their task. Moving forward is in part a matter of devoting a larger share of available resources to education and related services.

The united efforts of the American people will not prove too great for the educational task ahead. It is not a task that can be carried forward alone by any one group of individuals, by any one type of institution, or by any one level of government. All must be enlisted because the cumulative efforts of all are needed.

To us seniors the last four years in high school brings memories that won't be forgotten soon. Each year added something new and different until now, at graduation, we are prepared to reap their benefits and put our experience into actual practice.

Four years ago, we patiently endured being pushed around, yelled at as "greenies" and haltingly coaxed through our first course of Latin. Many of our class members joined choral clubs, and although we were in quite a daze, we finally stumbled through that freshman year.

As sophomores, we began to emerge from our shells. Assembly rooms had quite a few parties, but socially, little was accomplished. However, many of the girls were elected to the Tri-Hi-Y's and some of the boys got a start in athletic careers.

Then came our junior year, and did we step out! A Christmas dance which we sponsored with the seniors proved to be a bang-up affair and helped establish a reputation for ourselves. And don't you remember "The Panther's Claw?" Of course, our rings surpassed those any junior class ever had. Furthermore our Prom was one of the loveliest in the history of the school.

And now, we're seniors! Our senior gridiron members helped the Scotties battle their way to a co-championship with Donora. Name cards and pictures caused the usual excitement. Then, "The Merry Hares," under the expert direction of Miss Stoner, set the town talking. Finally—June, Class Day, Commencement, the Prom. So it's good-bye, Scottdale High. We'll never forget you.

Junior Class History

Gee! Our junior year at least. We began a year of bustling activity with a most successful magazine subscription drive in the fall.

During the year we were very well represented on the honor roll, in forensic competition, in the band, orchestra, and choral clubs, and we were exceptionally proud of the athletic prowess exhibited by many of our junior lads.

February meant that semester exams were over, and that big moment when at last we had received our shiny new class rings. In March much hitherto unappreciated dramatic ability was revealed in the comedy "Growing Pains," which was presented with great success by our class.

To top off a great year, we held our big social event "the prom." The soft lights, sweet music, exotically gowned girls, with their gallant young escorts made it an event to ever be remembered by all.

Well, now we shall mark time, impatiently awaiting for next fall, when we enter the spacious halls of Scottsdale High as "dignified" seniors.

Sophomore Class

OFFICERS

President James Hines
 Vice President Steve Bybel
 Secretary Lois Murray
 Treasurer Edward Zozula

As we, the sophomores, look forward to being upperclassmen, we begin to realize what a fine record we have to be proud of in our two years of high school life. During the year, some of our names have appeared on the honor roll. Our class has been well represented in the choral clubs, Sigma Gamma, the high school orchestra and band, and Tri-Hi-Y clubs. We also have some scientifically minded students who are members of the Academy of Science.

Our one social event of the year was our dance which we held in the Y. M. C. A. This was well attended and proved to be quite an event because everybody had a good time.

In April, we joined in the parade of class chapels by having one of our own. This really showed that our class had the ability to put things across because this chapel program was thoroughly enjoyed by the entire student body.

Of course our activities sound rather trivial as compared with those of the other classes, but next year our chance will come to look down on the younger groups and smile to ourselves over their childish activities. Next year we shall have a prom, a class play, and our long-desired class rings. We can scarcely wait!

The Freshman Class History

The freshman class, which consists of over two hundred students, has been relatively active this year. Their participation in the band, orchestra, and choral clubs has been proof of this. The group has also been frequently represented on the honor roll.

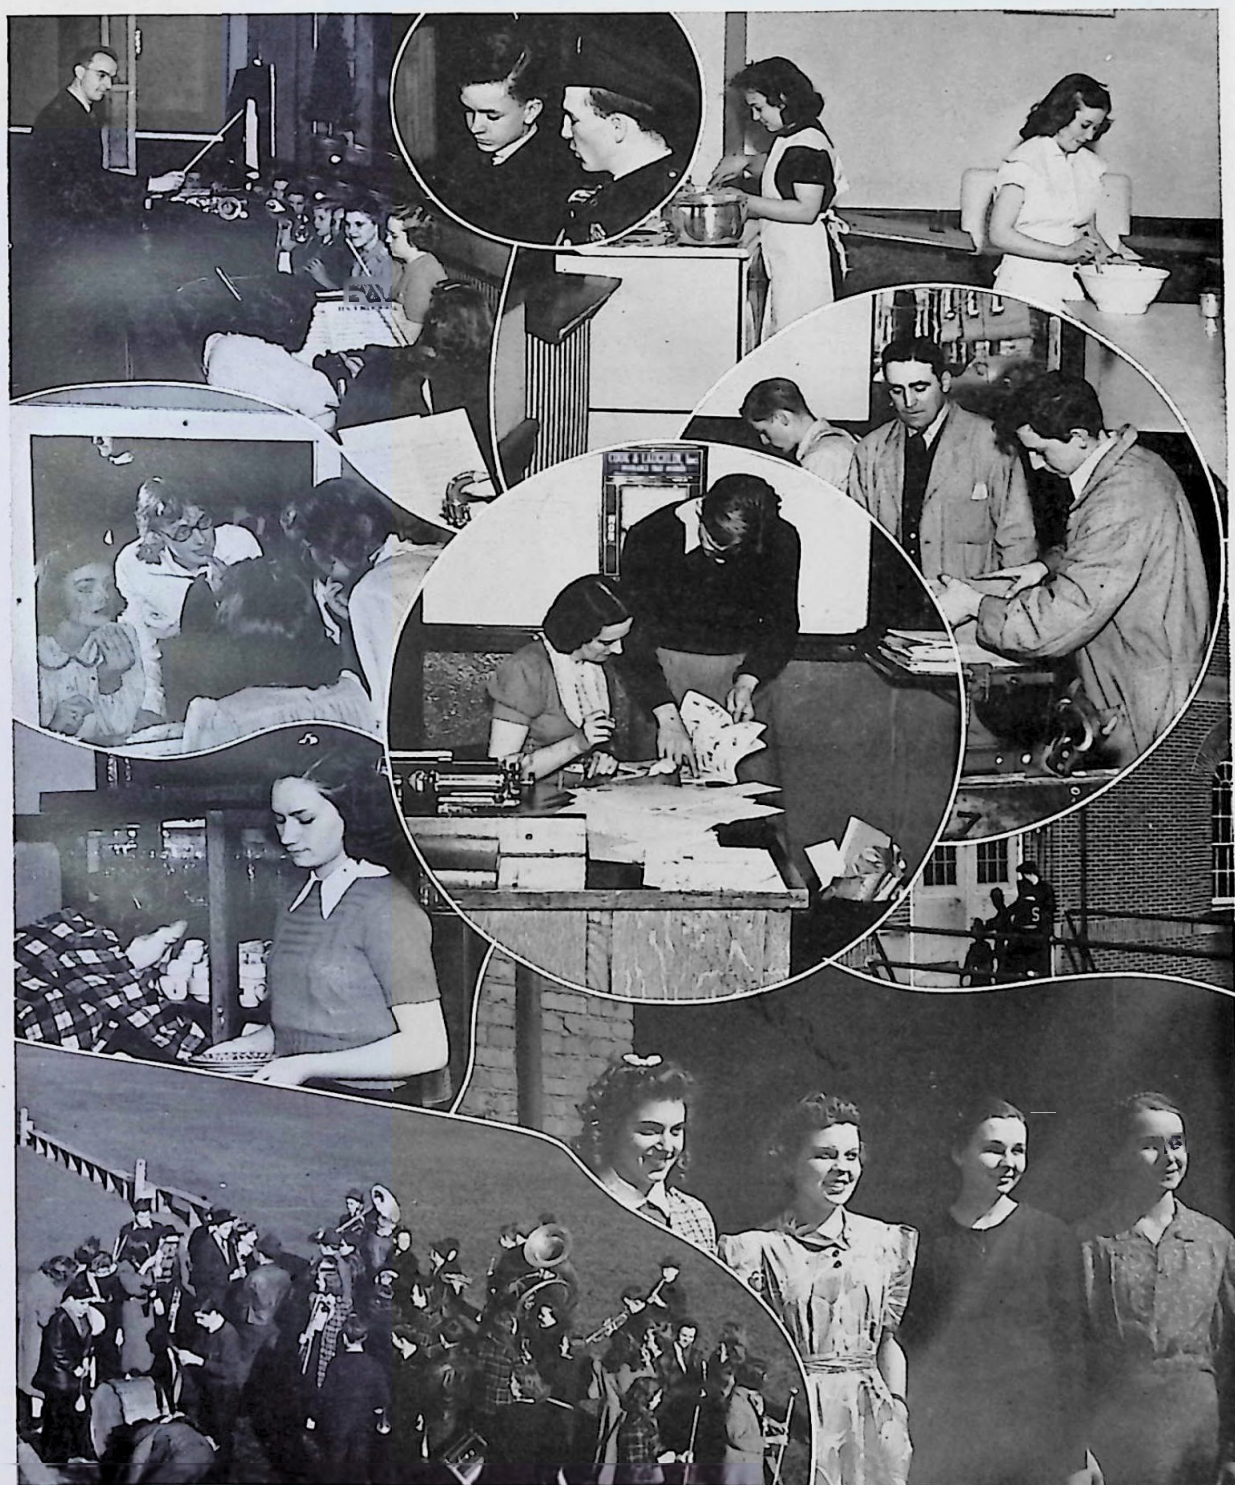

The freshman have been enjoying their initial year in high school and are looking forward to increased participation and prestige in their sophomore year. Due to the seniors over-looking traditional initiation of freshmen, this group has somewhat defied their upperclassmen but are still a bit fearful, as the end is not yet.

All in all the members of the Class of '43 are well pleased with their new environment and are anticipating continued happy relationships with the faculty and each other.

SIGMA GAMMA

Librarian	George Camlin

The Sigma Gamma Club of Scottdale High School with its twenty-five members, has had a busy season this year. The first public appearance was in December, when in collaboration with the Mendelssohn Choral Clubs, the annual Christmas cantata was presented before an assembly of one thousand persons.

The club's attention was then directed to the preparation of a spring program together with the choral club and orchestra. At this time we made our first attempt at producing grand opera, and our presentation was quite successful.

During the closing months of the school year we appeared in The Westmoreland County Choral Festival and also in a spring program with our newly formed high school band.

The club, although small in number, has, after three year's existence, come to represent an almost indispensable part of the extra curricular activities of the high school. Through it, a much needed, as well as pleasant outlet for the musical talent of the school is secured.

SCOTTDALE HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

In its eighth year, this organization shows more possibilities for future successes than ever before. The influence of the newly organized band is felt in the enlarged orchestra of over forty members.

The group played for the class plays and appeared several times with the various choral clubs. The orchestra played at the annual Commencement Exercises at the Strand Theatre.

Since no officers had been elected in this organization, its business was carried out in conjunction with the officers of cooperating musical clubs. This policy was found to be most successful.

THE SCOTTDALE HIGH SCHOOL BAND

This year the new high school baand blossomed forth, a most welcome addition to our school. The band, composed of some fifty odd members under the direction of Mr. George Hazen, lent much spirit to the football games and other autumnal festivities. Meryl Sturtz was elected president of the organization and James McCurdy was appointed student director. The band provided the music for several chapels and several community affairs. In the coming year we are looking forward to a larger and even better band.

Property Manager	Marjorie Byers

As the club concluded its sixth year of activity, many experiences, both entertaining and educational, were successfully met. The outstanding programs of the year were the fourth annual cantata, "The Music of Christmas," the spring program given at the Monday Music Club, the participation in the Westmoreland County Choral Festival, and the spring band concert, all of which were presented with the aid of the Sigma Gamma.

The club held two dances this year, both of which were a great success. At a mother's tea in March, the club presented its twelve senior members with lovely pins as a token of its appreciation for the work which they have done.

The crowning event of the year was a musical chapel program, sponsored by the musical organizations of the high school. This was a novel idea and was enjoyed by the student body as well as the organizations themselves.

The members of the choral clubs appreciate the fine cooperation of the high school, and because they enjoy the work they do, feel amply repaid by the pleasure their music gives others.

BETA MENDELSSOHN CHORAL CLUB

OFFICERS

President	Frances Shelley
Vice-President	Evelyn Glaser
Secretary	Mary Jane Uber
Property Manager	Marjorie Bell
Librarian	Lucetta Anderson

The Beta Choral Club, although having but one year of experience, has made rapid strides in becoming an indispensable member of the musical organizations of the high school. Its membership has increased this year to forty, and it is from this club that the membership of the Mendelssohn Choral Club is chosen.

The club assisted in the presentation of the Christmas cantata, "The Music of Christmas," and also cooperated in two dances which were held. These have afforded opportunities for greater association with the other clubs and have made our work seem more as one club rather than separate groups.

After the experience and confidence we have gained, and the friendships we have made, we feel that in the future we shall be able to make our club known in our school and community.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council resumed its work this year with Miss Dick as its faculty advisor. Meetings were held every other Wednesday, and questions of interest to the school were discussed and acted upon by the members. Joe Momyer served as president; Paul Storey, vice president, and Nelle Pletcher as sec'y-treas.

The Scotties Revue was changed from a typewritten sheet to a printed paper. Assistant editors were appointed to help the editor. From this group the editor-in-chief of next year's paper will be chosen.

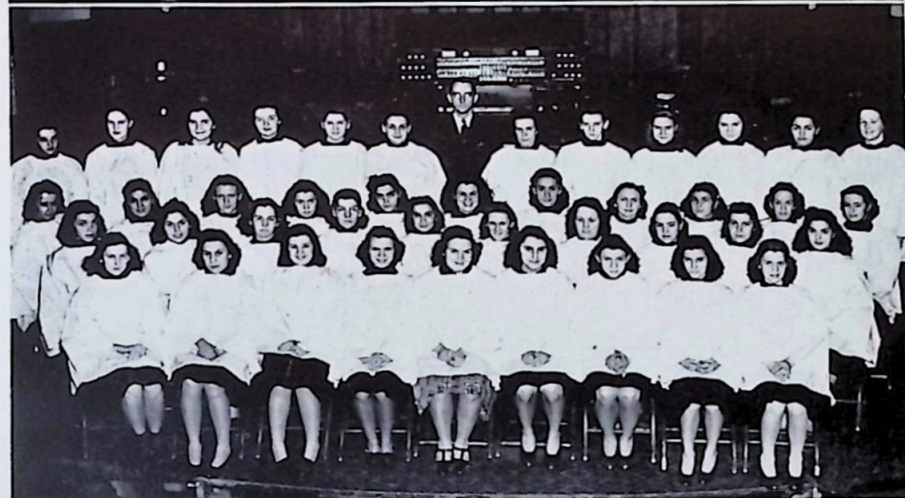

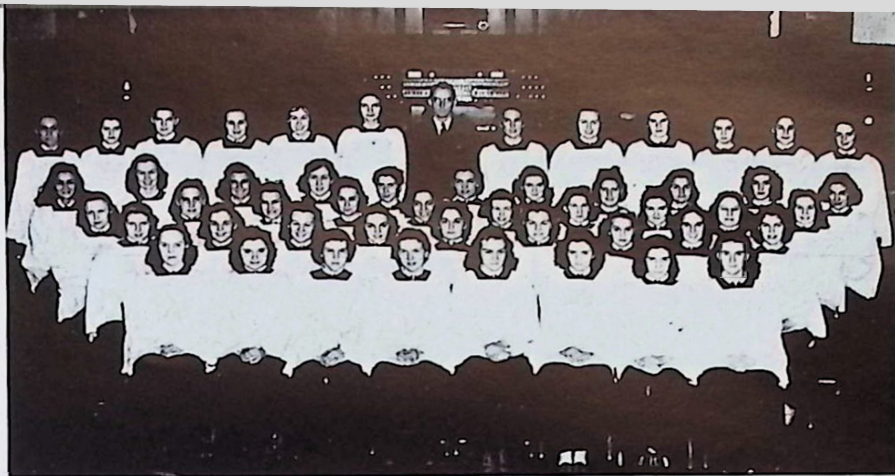

Christmas decorations including the trimmed Christmas tree were the handiwork of council members.

More and better chapels were arranged for our enjoyment. Each class, the Alpha and Beta Tri-Hi-Y and the Mendelssohn Choral Clubs with the aid of committees chosen from the Council arranged and sponsored the various programs. Each chapel program had also a teacher advisor.

At various times during the year movies were shown in room sixteen, due mostly to the efforts of the Council. Each year several boys from the junior class are taught how to operate the movie projector so that they may take charge of and be responsible for the handling of the machine the next year. The proper enjoyment of the machine is impeded by the lack of an auditorium.

THE SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The seniors presented as their class play, "The Merry Hares," a three-act comedy by Agnes E. Peterrson. The play, which was under the direction of Miss Stoner, is the cross-section of an eccentric family, the members of which have a really genuine affection for each other in spite of their little bickerings. Horace Hare (Ralph Rogers) is a professor deeply absorbed in his study of history. Annice (Lois Shaw), his attractive wife, is as much absorbed in keeping herself attractive, but such action does not deter her from being a good mother. There are three children: Diana (Peggy Byars), Phillip (Martin Fausold), and Christian (Phyllis Waide), who is as plain as Diana is beautiful, but is constantly being annoyed by Ernest Cheschire's (Joe Momyer, Don Horton) clumsy advances. Diana is frankly in search of a rich husband while Phillip is intrigued with his bond business, unconcerned with matrimonial aspirations.

Aunt Amber's (Matilda Glassburn) visit precipitates an argument as to who should meet and entertain the wealthy aunt. Anthony Prather (Earl Gilbert), a famous lecturer-explorer, unknown to the Hares as Aunt Amber's husband's nephew, is to be welcomed to town by Diana but is mistaken for Tony Markopoulos, a garage man, who is supposed to have come to fix Christian's motor boat which she enters in a race described by radio announcers (Jim McCurdy and Paul Akers). Tony is accused of stealing a car. Pug Wainwright (Jack Davis), a famous football player, has been invited to visit Phillip. Pug is mistaken for the Buller Brush man, and Diana sends the maid to tell him to come next week.

Finally Diana regrets her indifference to Pug, and Anthony become interested in Christian. Ernest capitulates to Pricilla Rossiter (Betty Shirey, Ruth Maglanes), who has long been courting him, and the goose hangs high.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

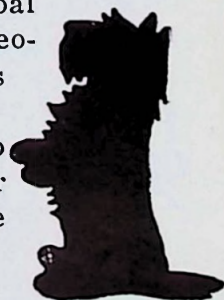

The junior class play, "Growing Pains," proved most entertaining as it was packed with adolescent comedy, intriguing plots, and many laughable situations.

The play deals with the young lives of George McIntyre (Jim Brooks) and Terry McIntyre (Mary Louise Koch) and the troubles they give their parents (Paul Storey and Maxine Gallatin). George and Terry have a party at which all their friends come, namely, Brian (Jim Byrne), Terry's boy friend; Dutch (Ted Fabiszewski), Omar (Bob Schildkamp), George's stuttering friend; Hal (Richard Owens), Patty (Dorothea Rittenhouse), Dutch's girl friend; Prudence Darling (Shirley Harrison), George's new found love; Jane (Corine Pritts), Terry's friend; Miriam (Isobel Porter); and Elsie Patterson (Edith Sturgis). A cop (John Harshman) breaks up the party searching for George, who knocks him down when he insults Prudence. George then goes to jail but his father gets him out. Prudence then jilts George, but when George sees Vivian (Marguerite Eberharter), a dazzling brunette, he forgets his sorrow and starts on another conquest. Mrs. Patterson (Janet Warrick) and Sophie, the maid (Madge Slaughtor) completes the cast.

SCOTTIES REVUE STAFF

Scottdale High School has, after all these years, reached a definite goal in a school newspaper. The Scotties Revue was printed this year and not mimeographed, as it has been for the past years. Because of this fact, our paper has made a reputation for itself and for our high school.

The members of the staff have worked diligently throughout the year to make the Scotties Revue what it is, and they are to be commended. The paper has been a pleasure to many because of its helpfulness and humor, and we are grateful to those who have made it possible.

THE SCOTTIE STAFF

The Scottie staff this year is under the editorship of Jack Davis and the sponsorship of Mr. Newcomer. The staff held its initial meeting on February 6th, and members became acquainted with their respective duties.

Undue excitement was created over the color scheme proposed for the year-book, but the selection of the staff was confirmed subsequently by a vote of the senior class. With enthusiasm the staff has selected unique designs, unrivalled in previous editions. The staff has also adopted a theme which is followed throughout the annual in introducing the various sections. This year each issue will have the purchaser's name inscribed on it, an attractive feature also new with the '40 annual.

Through happy cooperation the annual staff has planned to produce a record-breaking Scottie in beauty, contents, and distribution.

JUNIOR RED CROSS

The Junior Red Cross has been very active this year. The annual roll call amounted to $18.06.

Favors were made for the Veterans' Hospital at Perry's Point, Maryland, by the various committees of the Junior Red Cross, Beta Tri-Hi-Y, and Gamma Tri-Hi-Y girls for their service project.

During Accident Prevention Week the Junior Red Cross distributed Check Lists to the high school and to all of the grade schools and received one thousand acknowledgments of them in return.

The annual Christmas party for the mothers and children who attend the Red Cross clinic was the next successful project. A program was given for the mothers, and gifts were distributed by "Santa Claus" to the little kiddies.

Pictures portraying children of other nations in which there are Red Cross Chapters, by Anna Miles Upjohn, were displayed in the high school under the sponsorship of the Junior Red Cross.

A combination bake sale and candy sale was held in March. One of the most important activities was the Doll-Pet-Hobby Show given in the high school on April 12.

The school membership and attendance of the Junior Red Cross Chapter members at regular meetings in the Red Cross rooms have been the largest since the organization started.

JUNIOR ACADEMY OF SCIENCE

The Scottdale Junior Academy of Science Club was organized chiefly to interest more students in science. It covers all the fields of science taught in this high school. Under the skillful guidance of Mr. Hirst, Mr. Byers, and Mr. Hollenbaugh, the club has endeavored to learn more in science than is taught in our classes.

We are now considering publishing a pamphlet for the Pennsylvania Junior Academy of Science which would contain all the science talks given by the various members at the annual meeting at Washington, Pa.

Our club is expanding, new members are being admitted, field trips and other scientific excursions are being planned, and the club is reaching its peak of organization.

Even with all this, if this year's work does nothing more than lay the foundation for a bigger and better club to come, it can be said that it has been wonderfully successful.

The Athletics

Our Gridiron Season

As the players retire to their dressing room and the gates are closed for the final time, another successful season has been turned in by the Blue and White warriors. The coaches and players can well be proud of the record they set for 1939. The team won six games and lost two. The teams that were defeated were Confluence, Dunbar, Mt. Pleasant, North Union, Indiana, and East Huntingdon. Johnstown and Connellsville, two double "A" schools, were the only defeats that the Scotties encountered.

Out of a squad of forty-five, twelve have donned their jerseys for the last time in their high school career. The squad that returns next year will have as fine a season as did the team of '39.

A round of applause should go to the coaches for the fine record they have made in the years of service at Scottdale. Our staff consists of Mr. Lohr, head coach, Mr. Pattreson, assistant coach, and Mr. Swope, junior varsity coach. These men through their untiring effort have produced good football teams for Scottdale.

CONFLUENCE

In their initial game of the year the Scotties overpowered a determined Confluence team 21-0. The Scotties showed a fine offense and defense although this was the opening game.

JOHNSTOWN

Taking the road, the Scotties received their first setback at the hands of a powerful Johnstown team. Although putting up a good fight with a 0-0 at half time, the Scotties were subdued in the second half 33-0.

MT. PLEASANT

In their third game of the season the Scotties unleashed an attack that the Mt. Pleasant Bobcats found too difficult to stop. This was the second time in thirteen years that the Scotties defeated Mt. Pleasant.

NORTH UNION

The Scotties increased their wins to three by setting back one of the most powerful teams on their schedule. With the breaks coming their way, the Scotties defeated North Union 14-6.

CONNELLSVILLE

Making their first appearance under the lights, the Scotties found a stone wall in the Cokers' team. Held back by size, the Scotties were subdued by a score of 27-0 and only threatened the Coker's goal line once, in the first quarter.

DUNBAR

On a muddy field the Scotties got back in the winning column by defeating Dunbar 6-0. This was the Scotties' fourth win in six games.

INDIANA

After defeating Dunbar the Scotties outclassed Indiana, a double A school, 32-0. Displaying spectacular form, they kept their opponents baffled throughout the afternoon.

EAST HUNTINGDON

The Scotties closed their season with East Huntingdon, one of Scottdale's oldest rivals. The Scotties set back their opponents by a score of 27-0. Putting forth their best, the Scotties soon built up a score so that Coach Lohr might use his substitutes. From the showing they made, the Scotties should rank at the top of their class again next year.

The Hardwood Season

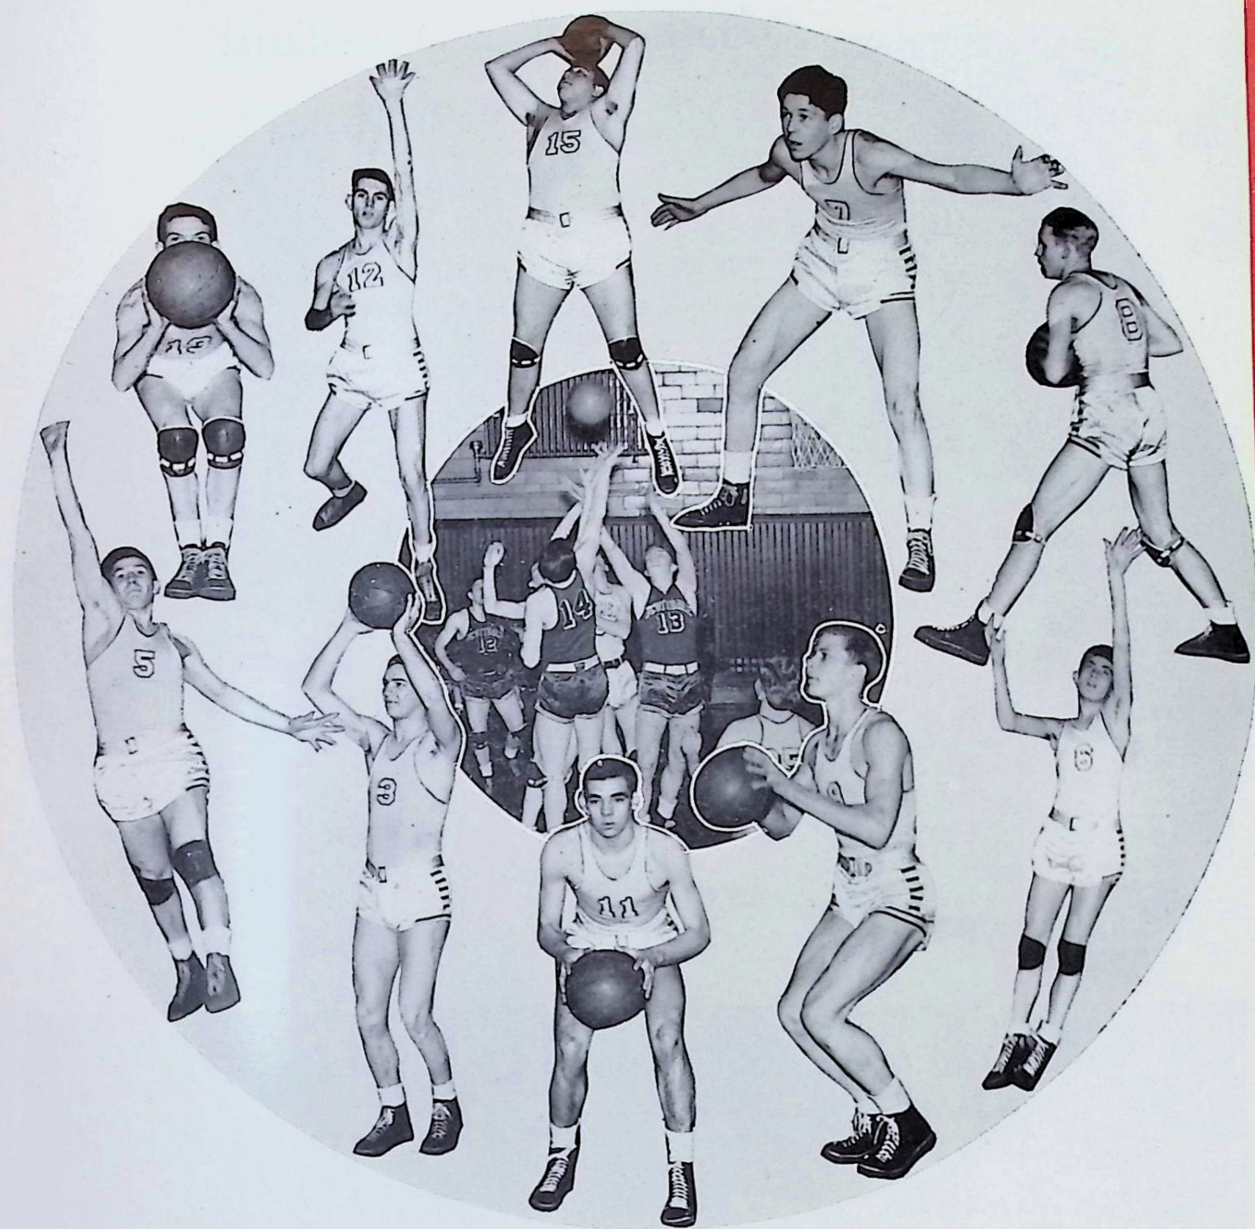

At the close of the 1939-40 basketball season, Scottdale High found its team one place from the cellar position in Section 9 competition. Although this season has not been as successful as other years, Scottdale came through well, considering that very few of the boys had played varsity ball before. The Scotties won a total of eight games and lost eleven. The team this year was composed of three seniors, five juniors, and two sophomores.

One of the main reasons why the Scotties can hold their own in section 9 is because of their way of working their offense and defense. The Scotties have one of the best zones in that section. The offense, although not tricky, is a very difficult one to stop, as many teams found out in recent years.

The Scotties lose only three men this year, Albert Vinzani, Patty Lipps, and Jack Harris. Having six out of ten boys to start the season with next year, Coach Lohr's outlook is more promising than in previous years. The junior varsity, who are under the supervision of Mr. Patterson, should develop into first-class ball players by the time they are ready for varsity ball.

The lettermen in basketball this year were Jack Randolph, Patty Lipps, George Lockard, Tommy Skemp, Albert Vinzani, Kenney Lowstetter, and Jack Harris.

Basketball in Sportland

The Scotties won all but two of their non-league games, after which they entered league competition.

GREENSBURG

The Scotties started their league competition with Greensburg. After a tough battle, the Scotties lost 22 to 20. In the second game the Scotties found themselves again the under dog with a score of 50 to 25.

LATROBE

The Scotties split with Latrobe in their two games. Scottdale lost the first game 29-25 at the Latrobe court then won the second game by a score of 40 to 25.

JEANNETTE

Again the Scotties found their luck gone as they were nosed out 27 to 25 at Jeannette. In their second game Scottdale won 29 to 22 which evened the score with one game apiece.

NORWIN

Our squad lost two stiff battles to Norwin. The first by a score of 46 to 23, and the second by 36 to 16.

CONNELLSVILLE

The Cokers took two games from Scottdale this year. Both games were exciting as the Scotties dropped them to the score of 40 to 19 and 27 to 20.

A Senior Reviews the Year

Eee-gad ! ! ! What silly person had to go and invent school ? ? ? September already and it seems that the summer has just begun. Those lovely dances, parties, late dates, moonlight hikes, and hamburg fries all have to be dropped and the last year juniors have to settle down to the boring existence of a school child once more. Of course the first month of school doesn't have much significance as far as activities are concerned, but we, as seniors, have hopes of running the high school this year in a way never before attempted.

"Don't tell me that this is October?" Now things are beginning to happen. Class officers elected, football season opened. Tri-Hi-Y initiations, and back to school—sweater hops—these are the more enjoyable activities of school. Physics blue books and problems, solid geometry, shorthand dictation and transcriptions, typing technique, permits, excuses, and—oh heck—I think I shall quit school.

October ends with spooky Halloween parties and November begins with thoughts of report cards, honor roll, (of course few of us bother to think of these) more football games with the championship in view, and turkey, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie, cider, apples, Thanksgiving, but uppermost in our minds are the thoughts of a real school vacation.

"Hurry, hurry, hurry, buy a basketball season ticket—there is only one more day.—Do your Christmas shopping early—I wonder whether that new evening dress which I saw under mother's bed will fit. What will John buy me for Christmas? —I wonder if he will like the sweater I made for him.—Only one more day until vacation.—What time is the dance tonight?—Who are you going with ? ? Oh well, Merry Christmas. There are just a few of the quotations heard among the student body as everyone awaited with joyous anticipation the last school day of 1939 and the first days of 1940.

Happy New Year, snow and more snow, ear muffs, new mittens, and grumbling among the boys who couldn't get the family car for New Year's Eve because of skiddy roads and zero weather. Later in January, both teachers and students began to wear a worried expression because of semester exams and report cards. As seniors, we begin to wonder about graduation, the annual, and class plays.

February brings graduation closer, more snow, and skating parties but activities seem to be rather scarce except for Friday night sweater hops and basketball.

March blows in with name cards, a senior party, class pictures, and Easter vacation.

April is rained in with the completion of the annual. The senior hall of fame conducted by the Scot-ties' Review staff, commencement announcements, more worried looks on the faces of the seniors, and spring with dreamy eyed boys and girls gazing long-ingly at each other because of thoughts of love and "stuff."

The seniors begin in May to count the days and hours until school is out. The annual, the class play, the prom, semester exams, a trip to Greensburg to attend a court trial, music festivals and play day—All these occupy the minds(?) of the seniors and studies are forgotten in the rush for new clothes, graduation gifts, prom bids, and take-offs on the teachers in our senior chapel.

June is here, hidden tears at baccalaureate and commencement, and the seniors become part of the alumni after spending the most wonderful year in their young lives. We can imagine the relief of the teachers as they realize that the class of 1940 is past history but then too, they know that another class just as unbearable as this one is about to burst upon them in the fall.

Senior Class Song

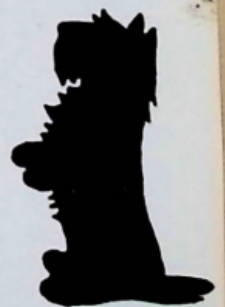

Tune of Careless

Thankful, thankful for all the things you've done,
We're thankful, thankful for all the friendships won;
We'll cherish memories until we grow old,
And love you always a hundred fold.

Farewell, farewell to all those joyous days;
Yes, farewell, to all who helped us on our way,
Although we'll miss you, dear old Scottdale High,
We bid you farewell and goodbye.

— Words by Betty Rollison

The Class of 1940 reserves this page for a picture of our future auditorium and gymnasium. It is our wish that there will be an actual picture in all future annuals.
